

Name	: Scott Lough
Position @ ASNA	: VP Western
University	: University of Calgary
Major	: Actuarial Science
Current academic year	: 4th
Horoscope	: Libra

Q: What drives you to be so enthusiastic about ASNA?

A: I always regretted not getting involved in more things during my high school days so I told myself I would try to make it up in university. As I got involved with ASNA, I became even more motivated by recognizing how much of an impact ASNA could have on the average actuarial student in Canada. Also, working with exceptionally smart and motivated people intoxicates those around them to be motivated as well.

It was easy to get motivated and be excited about organizing the convention in Calgary. Being the first convention out West, we had to represent the Western programs, especially U of C's to the best of our ability.

Q: What do you do in your leisure time?

A: I am a big baseball fan and I've played baseball since I can remember. I play baseball in Calgary through the summer and I really enjoy travelling to different cities to watch MLB games, especially St Louis since my favourite team is the St. Louis Cardinals.

I also really enjoy relaxing with my amazing family and friends and taking some time away from studying!

Q: What are the duties of your position?

A: I represent Western Canadian universities within the ASNA executive. I keep in constant contact with all the executive of ASNA, mainly the president, and report the progress of the committee tasks of these universities. Also, I encourage all western universities to participate strongly in ASNA, especially sending as many people as possible to the annual convention.

Q: What are your visions about your position?

A: Everyone who attended the Calgary 2005 Convention can all agree that it was a tremendous success, especially for being the first convention out West. I would love to see the convention come back out West sometime in the future. Simon Fraser, Manitoba...can you hear me? He he.

I would also love to see more universities out West become strongly involved in ASNA. University of Regina and University of Alberta have done a great job of getting involved in ASNA; it would be great to see them continue to strengthen their roles in ASNA.

Q: What contributions have you made to ASNA?

A: I attended the 2004 Toronto Convention and had such a great time and learned a lot. I decided I wanted to get involved further. I became VP Western in 2004 and contributed to the Calgary bid for the convention with a speech in terrible, rusty French of mine (my apologies). Then I contributed by helping organize the successful convention in Calgary. Then I ran again for VP Western for this year and here I am.

Q: What positions are you interested in for next year's election?

A: I won't be interested in any positions since I am graduating this year! Hurray! But I'm sure ASNA is in great hands by seeing the motivation of new delegates.

Q: Anything else that you want to share?

A: I would just like to say I had an unforgettable time being involved with ASNA. I learned so much about the profession, I met great people and I had an amazing time along the way. I encourage everyone to get involved!
