Say a few lines to a prospective actuary about your company:

Working at Munich Re means that you are part of a successful organization, with proven business success in Canada and around the world. It means that you are at the leading edge of the industry, helping to mold and shape our business and contributing to the unparalleled growth we have experienced as a company. But it's more than just our success that makes us so attractive.

We are convinced that what makes Munich Re so interesting is its people... people who are drawn to, and are driven by, an environment where diversity and change abound. Forward thinking (and looking) people, who see unlimited possibilities and strategize ways to develop new business opportunities. Talented people, who understand their strengths and use them to succeed in their roles. Team oriented people, who strive to achieve together, but respect the uniqueness of individuality.

We strongly believe that the key to the unparalleled growth and success of Munich Re is the commitment and dedication of its talented people.

And as our reinsurance business continues to evolve, our employees are provided with the tools and support they need to grow into new roles and to meet new challenges, both in Canada or at our operations around the world. To assist the organization in meeting these needs, Munich Re conducts a confidential annual survey of its employees to gather their feedback on ways it can further improve the work environment.

We believe that by recruiting individuals with the right talents for a particular job and offering them opportunities to develop these talents, our clients will receive the best possible service and our employees will achieve both personal and professional growth. As a result, our organization will continue to be one of the most innovative and enterprising reinsurers in Canada and around the world.
